

ON THE RIGHT PATH

katherine.wells@sccpss.com

I'm so grateful that we were not in the direct path of Hurricane Dorian and that we were able to return to school today. The school will be working on collecting items for the victims of the storm and I will keep you posted on that as I learn of them.

It can be difficult to jump back in after being out unexpectedly for a week. And while we were not impacted by the storm there is a certainly a level of stress that comes with the anticipation of what the storm might do. With all of that said, we have jumped back in and I've made some minor adjustments so that we can stay on track.

Please check Google Classroom with your student to get a re-cap of today and what those adjustments look like.

On an exciting note, I received notification this morning that I was selected from more than 124,000 teachers to receive $500 to spend in the Scholastic Book Store. I've asked your students to compete a reading survey and checkout the store online to help me make some decisions.

HOMEWORK+ETC.

Make sure that you are reading something that is your choice and interests you! Complete your reading survey and let me know what books you would like to add to our reading library!

New Vocabulary.com list is posted. There are only 10 words and they are found in the homework article. The list is due this Thursday 9/12. We will return to our normal schedule later this week.

Scope Magazine Articles "From Terror to Hope" and "Growing Up Muslim Post 9/11" should be read as homework.

There are two worksheets for homework and they are due Thursday 9/12.

Progress reports went home today. They should be signed by a parent and returned to your academic homeroom teacher.